

A heatmap visualization showing the spatial distribution of a variable across a grid. The color scale ranges from light yellow (low values) to dark red (high values). The highest values are concentrated in the bottom right corner, while the lowest values are in the top left corner.